

Exporting from ScienceDirect into RefWorks

Conduct your search for articles.

From the results list, mark the records you want to keep by clicking in the check-box to the left of the record.

Find articles with these terms
diabetes and hypertension

Advanced search

335,257 results

Download 2 articles Export relevance | date

Research article Full text access
Considering parents as a unit: Associations of gestational diabetes and gestational hypertension with postpartum diabetes and hypertension in couples
Pregnancy Hypertension, Volume 16, April 2019, Pages 32-37
Romina Pace, Elham Rahme, Kaberi Dasgupta
Download PDF Abstract Export

Research article Full text access
PAIT-survey—Prevalence of albuminuria in patients with diabetes and hypertension in Turkey
Primary Care Diabetes, Volume 12, Issue 6, December 2018, Pages 558-564
Francesco Fici, Elif Ali Bakir, Sengul Beyaz, Wim Makel, Nicolas Roberto Robles
Download PDF Abstract Export

Refine by:

Years

- 2020 (149)
- 2019 (18,936)
- 2018 (22,974)

Show more

Article type

- Review articles (31,208)

Then click on the Export pull-down menu which is just above the results list.

Download 2 articles Export

Export

2 citations selected

- Save to RefWorks
- Export citation to RIS
- Export citation to BibTeX
- Export citation to text

Click on Save to RefWorks

*When in Chrome – pop-up blockers will need to be accepted – see top-right of the screen.

A new window will open – choose the version of RefWorks you are using to export your references to (New or Legacy).

Continue exporting to RefWorks ?

Yes, export to the newest version of RefWorks

No, export to the legacy version of RefWorks

Your references will be automatically imported into your RefWorks account.

Click on View Last Imported Folder to see them.

Check to see if any of the records require editing.